The Tandara Stud was established in 1992 and founded on PLG genetics with PLG sires and stud ewes introduced in 2005 having a positive impact on their progeny's growth and eye muscle.

From client feedback, conception rates are proving exceptional, demonstrating the fertility and mating capability of Tandara rams, plus outstanding lamb meat yields over the hook, which is a direct result of higher eye muscle objectives.

Long, well-muscled rams resulting from many years of genetic improvement carry little or no colour and are tough and hardy - an essential trait, ensuring their ability, provided ewes are cycling, to work throughout the year under the harshest climatic conditions that have been experienced by lamb producers over the recent years.

Except under extreme drought conditions, Tandara White Suffolks are not supplementary grain fed at any time. Our 2009 Drop Rams have been grown out at Breeza on lucerne based pastures and are showing exceptional growth for age. The 2010 Drop rams will be raised and grown out at our Dorriggo property on irrigated pastures of clover / rye grass and kikuyu.

Tandara Angus Stud again this year during Northern Beef Week displayed bulls and females. Currently there are 10 bulls remaining, sired by 1407, Final Answer, 24J, 2V1 and Leachman Boomtime.
