The Tandara Stud was established in 1992 and founded on PLG genetics with PLG sires and stud ewes introduced in 2005 having a positive impact on their progeny's growth and eye muscle.

For the past 7 years all prospective sires plus all ewe lambs entering the Stud have been scanned by Australian Stockscan Services for eye muscle and fat. By careful selection all low index or over-fat ewe lambs are culled.

From client feedback, conception rates are proving exceptional, demonstrating the fertility and mating capability of Tandara rams, plus outstanding lamb meat yields over the hook, which is a direct result of higher eye muscle objectives.

Long, well-muscled rams carry little or no colour and are tough and hardy - an essential trait, ensuring their ability, provided ewes are cycling, to work throughout the year under the harshest climatic conditions that have been experienced by lamb producers over the recent years.

Except under extreme drought conditions, Tandara White Suffolks are not supplementary fed at any time. Our sheep are grown out on lucerne based pastures with winter feed of dual purpose wheat.

Tandara has a total of 1265 scanned in-lamb ewes for the 2008 season. 791 lambed May/June and 474 are scanned pregnant and due to lamb August/September.

We will be taking over 100 flock and stud rams as usual to Ag-Quip this year to be on display at site WX/24 and they are available for private purchase.

Tandara Angus Stud has 12 x 2006 bulls for sale this season. They will be on display during Northern Beef Week on 20 June.

The bulls are sired by Ardrossan X15, 2V1, CACY1, 1407 & DAZ Z16.
